

Instructions to Authors of an Accepted Article with a Supplementary Appendix for the American Journal of Agricultural Economics

The AJAE has arranged with AgEcon Search to post supplementary appendices for published articles on their web site for reliable availability to readers. While authors may still maintain their own web-based supplements, any materials to which a published article would have previously referred as “available on request” will now be posted to the AgEcon Search database for easy online access by prospective readers. Thus the article to be published in the AJAE should cite a paper posted on AgEcon Search rather than simply telling readers that supplementary materials are available upon request.

The supplementary appendix should bear a title page containing the following:

Title: “AJAE appendix for ‘insert final title of accepted article here’”

Authors: List all authors of the AJAE article

Date:

“Note: The material contained herein is supplementary to the article named in the title and published in the American Journal of Agricultural Economics (AJAE).”

The appendix should follow the style guidelines for the AJAE in terms of section headings, typescript formatting, tables, figures, mathematical notation, and literature cited (if any). A supplementary appendix of this type should not contain any material that is critical to clearly communication with readers of the published article. That is, the published AJAE article should stand on its own and may still contain other appendices that provide details which remain central to the article.

The final version of an article accepted for publication should include a citation to this AJAE appendix, citing the author(s), year, title and AgEcon Search URL (<http://ageconsearch.umn.edu>). The typescript will cite the supplementary appendix following the format in this example:

Wu, S., and B. Roe. 2005. "AJAE Appendix: Tournaments, Fairness, and Risk." Unpublished manuscript. Available at: <http://ageconsearch.umn.edu/>

When the author of an accepted manuscript uploads the final native (e.g., .doc, .wpd, .tex) version of the paper to the Editorial Express submission web site, the author should also upload a .pdf version of the supplementary appendix. We cannot accept supplementary appendices in a native file format.

The AJAE production editor’s office will upload the supplementary appendix to AgEcon Search. There is no need to update the accepted paper’s reference to the supplementary appendix with the precise URL of the appendix.

July 2009